Question of His Retention Not Involved in the Wyatt In-

No Reprimand Suggested.

It was also learned that no proposition was made in the board to reprimend or reprove the chief, nor was any spology asked of him to Wyatt. The board simply left that matter to the thivairy of the man to offer what reparation he could for making statement eterimental to the character of the patrolman. What he did is a private matter. Naturally, neither man would care to talk of the affair further.

It is a fact, as stated, that a week before the board began its inquiry. Commissioner Watson M. Myers offered a resolution providing that if the chief a charges were sustained. Weatt should be dismissed; if they were not sustained, then the chief should go.

How the Board Lined Up.

How the Board Lined Up.

This resolution failed of adoption by one vote. The vote was: Messrs. Ainsile, Myers and McCarthy for, and Messrs. Welsh, Whittet. Manning and Landerkin against the resolution. The qeation of the dismissal of the chief was therefore, res judicata before the investigation began. No effort was made to revive the resolution after the inquiry.

Police Officer William H. Wyatt, Jr., who has become so widely known during the past two or three years, was appointed on the force December 3, 1898, and has served continuously since. Though strongly backed for a sergeancy a few years ago, he is a private on the force. Nearly two years after attention had been directed to the existence of unlawfin gaming here by the commission of several crimes, the police did not report many of the gaming houses. The question was agitated and somehow Officer Wyatt was reported as saying that he knew where they were and could raid them. If allowed: The timplication was made that the officers or some of them would not give orders to raid the places. Finally Wyatt was given a chance to prove his claims, and did so, with the result that the greatest raids of gambling houses in recent years were made.

Wyatt Always Made Good. Wyatt Always Made Good.

Wyatt's stock rose rapidly and his uniformly efficient service and energy has caused him to be called upon by the anti-liquor and anti-gaming element to aid them in suppressing the evils in violation of law. Wyatt has recently been active and successful in reporting violators of tre Sunday liquor laws. In fact, he, in the slang phrase, "made good whenever called upon.

His reputation has stood the closest scrutiny, and has omerged from the test without spot or blemish.

A NEW BILL ON ANNEXATION

The Senate Committee for Roads and Internal Navigation had another long sitting yesterday afternoon considering the Anderson bill for the extension of the corporate limits of cities and towns, but adjourned until Thursday without reaching a vote on the bill or any of the amendments proposed thereto. In fact, the committee seems no center an agreement than before. Mr. Gardner, of Henrico, ex-member of the House, speaking for himself and others, agreed to accept the provisions of the Anderson bill with the added proving (havile per cent, of the revenue from taxation within the concession the bill is not acceptable to sufficient members to insure its passage by Powhatan, who is taking an active interest in framing a general law on this subject, had determined to draw a billing to meet the case, according to his ideas. He will be assisted in framing the bill by Senator Tavenner, of Shenandoah. The Sadler plan will divide the cities of the State into three classes, and draw a billing adaptable to each class in its provisions. Cities of the first class, having fifty thousand or more population, will come under the provisions of the Anderson bill, the subject of extension of the corporate limits thereof being a subject for adjudication by the courts under the terms prescribed. For cities of the second class, having a population of from 20,000 to 50,000. the question of the extension of limits must be submitted to the registered voters of the territory to be annexed, and then to the courts. In cities of the third class, having a population of less than 20,000, and in towns, it is proposed to submit the question of extension of limits to the registered voters of the territory to be annexed and of the whole county, and if a majority of the registered vote of the town and county together favor annexation, then the question shall be heard and determined by the court, the adverse voting weighing against the extension. This is but a bare outline of the bill, which will be framed to meet objections to the Anderson bill as far as practicable, and to adapt the bill to varying needs.

Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says Geo. L. Chubb, a merchant at Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in, the home ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated. For sale by all druggists.

EXTENSION WAS DEFERRED

It is understood from the most reliable sources that President Frank Gould, of the Virginia Passenger and Power Compa ny, has abandoned any present extension of the lines of that company to Ashland or elsewhere. This action is alleged to be due to the belief on Mr. Gould's part that the city of Richmond has shown a disposition to hamper and harrass the con pany when it was pouring out money so freely for the improvement of its properties and adding so rapidly to the revenues of the city and State.

The Gould management has expended actually more than a million and a half dollers in this city and vicinity in a year, and two or three million more were to be expended in improvements and extensions har cabouts.

Barely Rescued.

(By Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, VA. Feb. 2.—The British steamship Vedamore, said to be one of the Johnsen liners, plying between Baltimore, London and Liverpool, last Sunday night, in the dense fog prevaling in Chesapeake Bay, ran into and sunk the schooner Lily, reported to be what is known as a "bey trader." The accident lock place, from what can be learned, at Smith's Point, at the entrance to the Potomae River. The Vedamore, it is said, was bound down the buy at the time, being on a voyage to England. The Lily is reported to have sunk a few moments after being struck by the hugg liner. The collision is reported to have taken place not far from where the Bay Line steamer Georgia rammed the schooner Henry W. Cramp Monday morning.

schooner Henry W. Cramp Monday morning.

The report from the Cape to night was to the effect that four men of the crew of the Lily were landed at Cape Henry to-day by a pilot boat. Later advices stated that the cargo of the schooner consisted of wood, and that she was bound from James River to a Maryand port. Vessel and cargo are a total loss. The rescue of the crew is reported to have been a thrilling one. The schooner settled rapidly, and in the biting wind and dense fog the crew of the Vedamore had to work rapidly taking the men of the schooner off just as the vessel went down.

vestigation Case. vestigation Case. Information from a reliable source yesterday confirmed the statement printed in The Times-Dispatch that the vindication of Police Officer William H. Wyattay the Police Board was unanimous. The videstion of disciplining Major Howard, the chief of police, was never an issue in the case. At the time of the recent investigation of certain charges against the chief he nade in the board certain criticisms of Officer Wyatt. The board felt that if these statements were well founded, Wyatt should no longer be retained. They served notice on Chief Howard that it was "up to him" to prove his charges. This he undertook to do, with the result as stated. The result simply meant wyatt's retention and exoneration.

TWO LIVES LOST IN

ive firemen. The dead are:

VILLIAM F. MANEY, captain of Hosewagon Company, No. 2.

JOHN DUNN, an ex-firemen, who was nesisting at the fire.

The fire started in the six-story Phoenix building on Gay Street, between Wall and Union Avenues, and in the wholesale hat and millinery house of Murphy and Robinson. In a few minutes after the alarm had been turned in and the entire fire department summoned to fight the flames, the three top stories of Murphy and Robinson were in flames. The firemen were unable to check the flames, and they spread north and south into the store of Cullen and Newman, wholesale notions, on the north, and into the store of M. L. Ross and Company on the south.

After gutting Cullen and Newman's, the flames spread to Cullen and Shields's retail and wholesale glassware and jewelry house, which was entirely destroyed. The fire was checked after it had slight.

Total estimated loss, $370,000; insurance, $300,000.
